About AnnaLisa

AnnaLisa Danysh's practice focuses on family law matters. This includes dissolutions, parenting orders, post-dissolution matters, premarital agreements and estate planning issues. AnnaLisa also has extensive courtroom experience and represents clients in probate and other general civil litigation concerns.

Divorce and Family Law

AnnaLisa's divorce practice centers on helping clients understand their rights under Washington law concerning property and parenting matters. She understands the uncertainty and anxiety that often are a part of a divorce, and she focuses on developing strategies designed to achieve positive outcomes for clients as expeditiously and cost-effectively as possible. She believes that it is almost always in the best interests, of both spouses in a divorce, to resolve their differences outside of court. When deadlock situations do arise, AnnaLisa works diligently to develop creative solutions to achieve the desired outcome.

Estate Planning

AnnaLisa's estate planning practice centers on the fact that estate planning is not a "one size fits all" proposition. Accordingly, she focuses on the needs of clients concerning the distribution of their estate, allowing her to craft the legal documents necessary to fulfill client wishes. She also provides counsel to personal representatives in the context of probate administration.

Litigation

AnnaLisa's litigation practice is devoted to representing clients in a wide variety of litigation matters, including judgment collections.

Personal

When not representing clients in family law, estate, or probate matters, AnnaLisa's own family gets her focused attention. She happily spends her out-of-office time cheering from the bleachers during her children's soccer, volleyball, and baseball games.
